One Mind

Saint Vitus

Release your head from the world keep yourself underground no one understands your mind grown tired of screaming and talking to the walls no one understands your mindHumans programmed like robots making sure you don't belong
no one understands your mind
live with the constant knocking from the fools at your door no one understands your mindSearching hell for the exit never to be found
no one understands your mind
if you could stop the world you would take your leave
no one understands your mind