Beautiful Secrets

Sarah Blasko

Beautiful secrets, you guard them in your secret garden
You water and nurture them until they're bigger than life itselfBut you can't always know what they will uncover on the news
And you can't be too sure that your secret life won't show throughBeautiful speeches, the lines that are preached here are only half-truth
Delicious like murder, one step and you're further than you could admitBut you can't always know what they will uncover on the news
And you can't be too sure that your secret life won't show through
'Cuz you can't always know what they will uncover on the newsSo you can't always know what they will uncover on the news
And you can't be too sure that your secret life won't show through

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/