False Skylight Of 1997

FFORRESTT

I was born, in a stable town
Where a car starting up was the loudest sound
I was born, with a disabled arm
Gals told mama it was repercussion of karma

She said, "Oh no!" Yea, "Oh no!"
"It's just God testing us, He means no harm"
She said, "Oh no!" Yea, "Oh no!"
"It's just God testing us, He means no harm"

I grew up, and I looked around
I tried to fly but left my heart on the ground
I looked what God gave me and I called it my own
"No thank you Jesus, I'll do better alone."

False Skylight of 1997
These are the things I thought could get me to heaven
False Skylight of 1997
Chasing the wind like it could get me to heaven

I saw a girl, with a tear on her face
Rolled down where a smiled could be placed
So I took the opportunity, tried to make her my own
Abuse her heart till she said, "Leave me alone!"

She said, "Oh no!" Yea, "Oh no!"
"You have a false view of love, please leave me alone"
She said, "Oh no!" Yea, "Oh no!"
"You have a false view of love, please leave me alone"

I grew up, with a shallow mind
Excel in whatever, and leave my friends behind
So I took my fathers wisdom, and threw it back in his face
Searched the Internet for my morals to be replaced

False Skylight of 1997
These are the things I thought could get me to heaven
False Skylight of 1997
Chasing the wind like it could get me

False Skylight of 1997
These are the things I thought could get me to heaven
False Skylight of 1997
Chasing the wind like it could get me to heaven

False Skylight of 1997
These are the things I thought could get me to heaven
False Skylight of 1997
Chasing the wind like it could get me to heaven

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/