Project 86

The only thing I recall is
Those shadows coming my way
Comforting me with their searchlights
To guide me home again We will take, we will take
That wretched heart away
And when you come to
You'll thank us for the new you we've made So now I'm left here fading away
Far away, far away
So now I'm left here fading away
Far away, far away from me So now I wait as they make me
Into someone else
If I believe what they tell me
I'm tired of being myself Cause they take and they take
A piece of me everyday
And we will help you belong here
With this new you we've made If you, you can amputate my heart
Then I will learn to smile and then
You can replace me with yourself
And I'll become the model citizen And I will tell them all
That I had this breakthrough surgery
They give you a pill, they remove your heart
And replace it with a battery
