

Stand

Unashamed

I feel I am falling,
from grips of righteousness.
Trapped in sin, there's no way out.
I am weak, the walls keep building.
I feel so helpless, I feel so all alone. Bound in chains, the power of sin grow over me.
I try to separate,
but it can't be done. Darkness surrounds me,
leaving me without help.
I can't get out,
I can't find help.
I'm trapped inside my own iniquities.
I try to separate,
but it can't be done,
without help from above.
Then I realized,
He's been there the whole time. I'm the one who left,
and turned my back on God.
I'm the one at fault,
I'm the one to blame. I'm a new creation.
I have been justified,
by the blood of the One,
who hung on the cross.
I will no longer give into my desires.
I will not, I will not fall,
and live on my own.
You'll be there to pick me up, to pick me up again and again. I will not fall.
I will not fall.
I will not fall down. Innocent,
He shed His blood for me.
Saved the world for you and me.
I will stand for Him,
for all to see.
