Candles

Within Temptation

Take away these hands of darkness
Reaching for my soul
Now the cold wind blows out my candles
Feeling only fear, without any hopeA thousand dark moons, a thousand winters long
A million fallen stars, the candle burns in the wombWe try not to forget, they live through us
Slowly they die away at every candle's endA thousand dark moons, a thousand winters long
A million fallen stars, the candle burns in the wombWe try not to forget, they live through us
Slowly they die away at every candle's end
