

Candles

Within Temptation

Take away these hands of darkness

Reaching for my soul

Now the cold wind blows out my candles

Feeling only fear, without any hopeA thousand dark moons, a thousand winters long

A million fallen stars, the candle burns in the wombWe try not to forget, they live through us

Slowly they die away at every candle's endA thousand dark moons, a thousand winters long

A million fallen stars, the candle burns in the wombWe try not to forget, they live through us

Slowly they die away at every candle's end
