

Saturday Morning

Harry Chapin

Saturday morning and it's growin' light
I look out my window and remember the night
The story is starting and this story ends
And I feel like I need you again
Time used to move softly when I was at home
It went on without me and left me alone
Now it sits at my shoulder and claws at my hand
And I feel like I need you again
A song needs a reason and rhyme
My love needs a little more time
Well, I recall September and leaves turnin' brown
Remember October, left leaves on the ground
And here comes December like an elderly fan
And I feel like I need you again
A song needs a reason and rhyme
My love needs a little more time, now
My love needs a little more time

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>