Jason Lancaster

You want to hold on, but not too tight
So you never spend a sleepless night
Thinking about things you know your heart can't change
'Cause I don't remember being promised another day
You got to look around to know who your real friends are
They're the ones you can count on, not shooting stars
You've gotta find a girl and treat her right
So you don't live too fast some nights
Reaching for someone you know you'll never tame
Oh, we're living for something that someone takes away
'Cause I found out the meaning of life
Is the home is here that you want to cry
I may lift you up and teach you to fly
And this is my insight
And every time that you can't believe
Just where you are at, just hold on and see
And learn to live and love and on
You'll see your bright side
'Cause Adam, let me tell you a little something about life
She's a pretty little mistress with hearts for eyes
You want to hold on, but not too tight so you
