Dr. Mabuse

Blue System

Why should I cry?It's alright, it's okay, it's an odyssey
Dr. Mabuse, Dr. Mabuse
It's a shame, he'll return in a shade of grey
Dr. Mabuse, Dr. MabuseHe's living in the twilight sky
Lonely voices, they will cry
In a train of silence he returnedIn a temple he survived
A cathedral, dead man's life
He's the soldier and your heart will burnHe faced the devil, faced the hell
Don't look back, don't tellIt's alright, it's okay, it's an odyssey
Dr. Mabuse, Dr. Mabuse
It's a shame, he'll return in a shade of grey
Dr. Mabuse, Dr. MabuseEvery night, every day on the run
He's the man who has stolen the sun
Oh, he lost all his life, all his dreams
Born ago hundred years by machinesSeven ways of loneliness
Tall strange man and old black dress
You can see his silhouette in blackA kiss of death, a secret friend
He's the loser in the end
The soldier of the darkness, he'll come backKnocking on forbidden doors
Like years and years beforeIt's alright, it's okay, it's an odyssey
Dr. Mabuse, Dr. Mabuse
It's a shame, he'll return in a shade of grey
Dr. Mabuse, Dr. MabuseEvery night, every day on the run
He's the man who has stolen the sun
Oh, he lost all his life, all his dreams
Born ago hundred years by machinesWhy should I cry?It's alright, it's okay, it's an odyssey
Dr. Mabuse, Dr. Mabuse
It's a shame, he'll return in a shade of grey
Dr. Mabuse, Dr. MabuseEvery night, every day on the run
He's the man who has stolen the sun
Oh, he lost all his life, all his dreams
Born ago hundred years by machinesWhy should I cry?

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/