Turning Into Blue

Gretchen Parlato

Moments gone, then on and into the sea,
All of this is more than just you and me.
What I try to hold just slips from my hand.
What I think I know, I don't understand.Turning into blue,
On and on and on and on.Open eyes, and realize who you are.
Let it be, then peace won't be very far.
Life is but a dream, we wake at the end,
Only just to smile then live it again.Turning into blue.Sea and sky, and you and I are as one.
When you think you're through, you've only begun,
Like the endless waves belong to the sea.
All of this is more than just you and me.Turning into blue.
