

California

Slowtide

when I hear these cheesy odes to california these songs that every dork can sing along I wish that I had been to California to prove these naive fairy-tales as wrong but I guess my thoughts are born of the frustration that if I ever find my way down there I'd probably build up the same relation and everything I said wouldn't be fair

Cause my sun shines through smoking chimneys I always loved the atmosphere in the heart of the city how could somebody like me not like it here?

and if the time comes that you drop the pills in cause you can't find the way out of your mind see, everyone gets sad, even Brian Wilson cause Happiness today is hard to find and everyone around here longs for sunshine the rain keeps falling all through the year but to emigrate would probably be the wrong sign home is where the heart is, my heart's here what can you offer California, that I don't already have here?
