Buddy & Julie Miller

Seventeen years, how could we know?
And thirteen years to make a flower grow
Tears that fell from your eyes
Were the one's heaven cries
For the children left to walk alone
There is a light, no one can take
There is a chain of love no one can break
In all the world there is
No love greater than this
To lay down your life for your friends
And did you feel the longing?
And did you hear a secret song?
And did you sing it out to the dark?
Did you follow the footsteps?
Did you shine a light and did
You dance with all of your heart?
And did you feel the longing?
And did you hear a secret song?
Did you sing it out to the dark?
Did you follow the footsteps?
Did you shine a light and did
You dance with all of your heart?
