

Golden Dawn

Gospel

Aw man you should of seen it,
They came from all over the world
All just trying to say something.
But then those clippers came
And those people drowned
And the scaffold...
It came falling down.
Then the conquests came
And the noise died down
And i never heard another single thing about it.

"hey you. you got a ciggarette man?
You know i know you got one on ya.
I usually keep mine in the backseat
But its buried behind all the rubble.
You know after a few months
I figured all this shit would be easier.
No wife, no kids, nothin man
But my monkey sure is breathin."

And around the corner tonight ...
My man, he's sleepin out on the street.
"someone should go tell him its cold outside".
I don't think he's listening.

And its only just a matter of time
Before we all gotta go underground.
And for whats its worth
They ain't got no drugs down there.

And don't even think for a second,
That just cause you been co-opted
You've been cancelled out.
Cause for a minute there we tasted it.
And know we know what its all about.

Lyrics submitted by Janslike.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>