The Human Race

Randy Travis

We've flown to the moon
But have we missed the boat along the way?
We reached for the stars
But are we that far removed from the cave?We've got radios and coda phones, computers
We found satellites in space
Now everybody's talking
So tell me why we can't communicateAre we losing the human race?
Do we ever really learn from our mistakes?
Who's ahead, who's behind?
Will there be a finish line?
Are we losing the human race?Nations are starving
While we pay our farmers not to grow their grain
Fossil fuel is going up in smoke
And coming down in acid rainThe more that we progress it seems
The farther we keep slipping down that drain
It's a no-win situation
So tell me why we have to play the gameAre we losing the human race?
Do we ever really learn from our mistakes?
Who's ahead, who's behind?
Will there be a finish line?
Are we losing the human race?Who's ahead, who's behind?
Will there be a finish line?
Are we losing the human race?

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/