

Breakdown

Kelley James

We are lying in words and you see
This is the way we go when its not around
I know all of the things that you try
To tell me the ways that the world is not your crown Ive been around pulling you down
Easing my old gone troubled mind
Looking around, letting you down
Easing my old gone troubled mind
I believe its gone I breakdown, I try to be honest, But I
I breakdown, and what you dont see
Is that I breakdown, I try to be honest
But youll never get the best of me I cant kill the days that I cry
Deep in my heart when the tears dont come at all
And though I barely get in just to show
Enough of the maze and that the world is not my throne I wait, for all that we hold just to break
Under the weight of the world, a crown and throne
I wear it all on my arm and I fear
Ill end up the one whos lying here alone

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>