Oh Dear

The Bluebells

Early in the morning clouds are dropping on my head
Remind me the things, last night, I should have left unsaid
So please forgive the words I use, my mind it tends to run
Away with the small ideas, I know, I'm not the only one
So dear, oh dear
My head it tends to stray away, sometimes I can't see clear
Oh dear, oh dear
In spite of all the things I said, I always want you near
Sometimes it rains, sometimes it pours
Sometimes I'm not that sure
But anytime you look at me
Your thoughts, I can't ignore

The second hand would pass us by
Should one of us had blinked
But in a minute realize
That true love always waits
My dear, oh dear
My head it tends to stray away, sometimes I can't see clear
Oh dear, oh dear
In spite of all the things I said, I always want you near
Early in the morning clouds are dropping on my head
Remind me the things last night, I should have left unsaid
So please forgive the words, I use my mind it tends to run
Away with the small ideas, I know, I'm not the only one
