

Last Summer

Frickin' A

Sneakin' out with you, midnight in June
Picked you up, couldn't stand to be apart, you said you knew
About an old abandon road where we could park and be alone
We were trying to find ourselves but we lost ourselves
At seventeen, time to waste, feelin' in and out of place
At the beach, getting stoned on our way home
Learnin' love, forgetting pain, watching time go down the drain
And disappear that's how we spent last summer
Hangin' out, catching rays and lemonades by the pool
It was us against the world we were redefining cool
But we were scared when you were late, leaving everything to fate
We were only kids ourselves, expecting someone else
At just seventeen, time to waste, feelin' in and out of place
At the beach, getting stoned on our way home
Learnin' love, forgetting pain, watching time go down the drain
And disappear that's how we spent last summer
Seventeen, no time to waste, feelin' like we lost place
Nowhere to turn, wonderin' what the hell to do
Do we give it up or pull the plug? And carry this for years to come
And tell no one about last summer
Seventeen, time to waste, in and out of place
Learnin' love, forgetting pain last summer
