Mother Earth

Labyrinth

Across the bright light of a red sunset I saw allthe beauty I never noticed before Air is sweet and stroking my face as a kiss I could never figure out a future without all thisSee what we've done to mother earth No mercy, no pity we have green and blue are turning in to blackWater is covered by a veil of evil oil they named it black goldIce is melting but ground is becoming sand no more seasons no more spring summer or fall expliotation will bring our lands right to the bone what kind of future are we preparing for our sons?See what we've done to mother earth no mercy no pity we have green and blue are turning in to black Find just a reason to say "no" or everything will soon be dead and gone lakes and seas are turning into mud
