

Skin

Sylver

I know you told me not to ask where you have been
I know you told me not to try
To understand the way you live your life at night
But don't you see you make me cry So now I have left you, I know it broke your heart
But I prefer to be alone
I hope, you feel the pain I've always felt with you
I know I'll make it on my own I touch your skin, I smell the sin
Your eyes are lying
I touch your skin, I smell the sin
My love for you is dying I touch your skin, I smell the sin
Your eyes are lying
I touch your skin, I smell the sin
My love for you is dying I know you told me not to ask where you have been
I know you told me not to try
To understand the way you live your life at night
But don't you see you make me cry I touch your skin, I smell the sin
Your eyes are lying
I touch your skin, I smell the sin
My love for you is dying I touch your skin, I smell the sin
Your eyes are lying
I touch your skin, I smell the sin
My love for you is dying I touch your skin, I smell the sin
Your eyes are lying
I touch your skin, I smell the sin
My love for you is dying

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>