Skin

Sylver

I know you told me not to ask where you have been
I know you told me not to try
To understand the way you live your life at night
But don't you see you make me crySo now I have left you, I know it broke your heart
But I prefer to be alone

I hope, you feel the pain I've always felt with you I know I'll make it on my ownI touch your skin, I smell the sin

Your eyes are lying

I touch your skin, I smell the sin My love for you is dyingI touch your skin, I smell the sin

Your eyes are lying

I touch your skin, I smell the sin
My love for you is dyingI know you told me not to ask where you have been

I know you told me not to try

To understand the way you live your life at night But don't you see you make me cryI touch your skin, I smell the sin

Your eyes are lying

I touch your skin, I smell the sin

My love for you is dyingI touch your skin, I smell the sin

Your eyes are lying

I touch your skin, I smell the sin

My love for you is dying I touch your skin, I smell the sin

Your eyes are lying

I touch your skin, I smell the sin

My love for you is dying

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/