Crashing Down

Common Children

This damaged world can change you
Break you open, spill you to the ground
It leaves you stranded, empty handed
Hits you when you're downTry and hold it back
When you're standing there with nothing
They're never coming back
But the memory is somethingYou should know by now
It's gonna hurt just like the first time
And this won't be the last time
Your heart comes crashing down
Your heart comes crashing downSometimes this life can thrill you
Yeah, it can fill you with a faded kind of smile
Gives you this feeling like life is leaving
You're only here a whileYou're in between right now
But the season's slowly changing
You find the hope somehow
The strength for rearrangingYou should know by now
It's gonna hurt just like the first time
And this won't be the last time
Your heart comes crashing down
Your heart comes crashing downOne day face to face
When love sweeps you away
On that day face to face
You will find your resting placeOne day, one day
One day, one day
One day, one day
Face to face, one day
One day face to face
One day, one day

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/