Organ Song

The Boxer Rebellion

Moving as an unknown too forgiving

No one left to bother when I rebuild itThere is nothing in between

Born unraveled at the seams

Lost where others seem to be

The first horizon wakes with me underneath I've seen all directions, it seems uncertain Another world, in another world the past unspoken There is nothing in between

Born unraveled at the seams

Lost where others seem to be

The first horizon wakes with me underneathAs quick as the hope I was living on

As quick as the hope I was living on

It's gone, gone, goneAs quick as the hope I was living on

As quick as the hope I was living on

It's gone, gone, gone, goneAs quick as the hope I was living on

As quick as the hope I was living on There is nothing in between

Born unraveled at the seams

The first horizon wakes with me underneath
