RÃ¶yksopp

I won't try to dent you right or stop your flight
I've known our plight
You know I'm right
I know about your little fling
How you hide your ring
You senseless thing - I'll cut this string
The heat has simmered for a while It's not my style - so versatile... and with a smile
At anytime, I could explode!
When you kissed your toad
You kissed your princely episode

1% short of half and less than half ain't really much of nothing bit off more than one could bite and the taste is slight it leaves this dullish appetite
'bout time I've finally seen the light and said goodnight for the sling is tight we'll lose this fight in a corner painted white as you fly your kite I shun the sight, I've seen the light!
and now I've got to say goodnight, you know I'm right!

I won't try to stop you flight or chage your night or nothing less than half why won't you try to make this damage better?
Math and imagery
Equates cacophony
Multiplies muteness: a sum better disturbed

For silence subtracts
And shadows divide light less than half is slight
The heat has simmered for a while...
