Over the Edge

Agnostic Front

Pure hatred burns deep in my soul because our bond has cracked in time. it's taken months for my cool to explode. now what's been damaged remains in my mind. I should have listened to those you ca
Fools for the fool was I to be led blind. youve played your final game, the odds have failed you again. my faith was all to blame. I thought you were a friend I'd trust till end. these days you l
To trust no one. you must include those closest friends. for what has many of thier promises done? but left you betrayed in the end. I should have listened to those you called fools for the fool
I to be led blind.

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/