Tickle Me Pink

Ba ba badee du ba ba badee du ba ba badee du ba. (x2)

I've got a question.
Have you learned your lesson?
Cause you left me guessing last time.
It was a blessing in disguise
That day you opened my eyes
To what was always a fake.

Well, I was just wondering
Why you left me stumbling
When my whole world was crumbling down.
I'm faithfully broken
From this new life we've chosen.
Now I know I'm done hoping for this.

What's passing by, What's passing by.
What's passing by? The time.
Well, I remember you
and you remember me.
So, I would think you would say goodbye.
You've never left a call.
You never wrote a note
that everything that was became a lie.

Easy to betray
When you're changing day to day,
And you don't remember things that you said.
Someday you'll find that you've been left behind,
And that there is no life in lying in bed.

What's passing by, What's passing by.
What's passing by? The time.
What's passing by, What's passing by.
What's passing by?
What was that?

Well, I remember you
And you remember me.

So, I would think you would say goodbye.
You've never left a call.
You never wrote a note
That everything that was became a lie.

And now you want me back,
But you'll never change.
So, why am I here for your foolish games.
And since the day you've left,
I've learned a couple-a things.
You've got to get laughing, tickling me pink.

Ba ba badee du ba ba badee du ba ba badee du ba. (x4)
(Ba ba ba badee du ba ba ba badee du)

Well, I remember you
And you remember me.
So, I would think you would say goodbye.
You've never left a call.
You never let me know
that everything that was became a lie.

And now you want me back,
But you'll never change.
So, why am I here for your foolish games.
And since the day you've left,
I've learned a couple-a things.
You've got to get laughing, tickling me pink.
You've tickled me pink.
