A Day

Styx

Written by john curulewski
Lead vocals by john curulewskiWoke up in rainy autumn
Morning mist beginning to wane
And the birds of the winged trees
Calling my nameCare less the clouds above me
The wind is gently lifting my hair
Where the rivers of the wind fall light rain
Now stand bareListen to the flowing streams

Golden in the shelter of my dreams

Playing a song on the meadow that echoes with loveWalk alone through the garden

The leaves are wet with morning's tear

And the whispering of someone

Is drawing me nearContent to rest awhile

Pondering the motion of time

Over unforgotten memories

Dipped in wineListen to the flowing streams

Golden in the shelter of my dreams

Playing a song on the meadow that echoes with love[extended instrumental solos]The God of dusk is falling around me

The night air now restless and dank
Yet the fields are specked with flowers
Few and rankMoon reflecting off the water
Rippling an image to me
Of the way that it is

And the way that it's going to beListen to the flowing streams

Golden in the shelter of my dreams

Playing a song on the meadow that echoes with love

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/