

Your Shirt

Chelsea Cutler

This time it don't Feel like you want it all
Did I do something wrong to make you go
Said I would know when it's all good to fall
Now I just need you here to hold me close 'Cause I don't want another heart to fill the holes
That you left under my covers for me to grow cold
I don't wanna miss somebody who's not missing me
But the city feels so lonely when you leave My room where I want you
Tangled ease in my sheets
In your shirt that I got you
Half asleep holding onto me
My bed where you left me
Tangled up now it's noon
In your shirt that you gave me
Half asleep wishing I still had you Half asleep wishing I still had you This time you said you're playing games again
What are we becoming of it now
It's fine I said if you're the one in my head
Cause I just don't know how to put you out 'Cause I don't want another heart to fill the holes
That you left under my covers for me to grow cold
I don't wanna miss somebody who's not missing me
But the city feels so lonely when you leave My room, where I want you
Tangled ease in my sheets
In your shirt that I got you
Half asleep holding onto me
My bed where you left me
Tangled up now it's noon
In your shirt that you gave me
Half asleep wishing I still had you [Oh oh oh]
I'm half asleep wishing I still had you

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnllyrics.com/>