

It's Dangerous Business Walking Out Your Front Door

Underoath

I've been up at this all night long
I've been drowning in my sleep
I've prayed for your safe place
And it's time for us to leave Time is running, it's running on empty
And the gas is running out
I've decided that tonight is the night
That I let love aside Full speed ahead this seems to be the place
I've seen this once before
Planned perfection sought in my dreams
Hoping this would take you home My knuckles have turned to white
There's no turning back tonight
Kiss me one last time Around this turn where the cross will cast your shadow
The people will all gather
To remember such a day where the flames grew as high as trees
And the world stopped, stopped for you and me My knuckles have turned to white
There's no turning back tonight
Kiss me one last time My knuckles have turned to white
There's no turning back tonight
Kiss me one last time I will now bring new meaning to the word alone
Endless nights of dreaming of life
And the days we should have spent here Drowning in my sleep, I'm drowning in my sleep
Drowning in my sleep, I'm drowning in my sleep Glass shatters and comes to a halt
I thought we'd be there by now
I thought it would be so much quicker than this Pain has never been so brilliant
I made sure you were buckled in
Now you can walk hand in hand with him My knuckles have turned to white
There's no turning back tonight
Kiss me one last time My knuckles have turned to white
There's no turning back tonight
Kiss me one last time
