

S.S. Recognize (old version)

Alien Ant Farm

And back to the ebb came, in fact and full of rain
And two the flow went, I think the vessel bent
Now time is precious, rocky waves we're nauseous
I think everything is wet, from us the ocean fed
What made us try to have done what we do, let's dream of dry
To not tremble in the night; full sky, fuel shy Don't you recognize, I'll rock the boat again
I'm getting scurvy bad Now it's been days, and the sun won't show her face
She will blame mistakes on me, now the cold becomes obscene
Will you just bend, and think of saving my life again
This ship has made me cry, I think the next time we should fly; full sky, fuel shy Don't you recognize, I'll rock
the boat again
I'm getting scurvy bad We're bringing up all the sharks cause all the whales have gone mas surr, you fail to recognize all the things that we do, check yourself, the boat just about to sink You're gonna choke on the salt if you try to drink; We're bringing up all the sharks cause the whales have gone mas surr, you fail to recognize all the things we do, check yourself the boat just about to sink, we don't need You bitch, you think you are the missed link
All the prism in the world couldn't make hue
All the rescue that I've seen don't bring you Stand up, sit back or walk the plank, kiss the deck and recall All the prism in the world couldn't make hue Don't you recognize, I'll rock the boat again
I'm getting scurvy bad

Songwriters

MICHAEL COSGROVE, TYE ZAMORA, TERENCE CORSO, DRYDEN MITCHELL Published by Lyrics © RESERVOIR MEDIA MANAGEMENT INC Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941.
Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>