Big Bad World

Plain White T's

It's a big bad world, we're doing what we can
Sometimes we fall on our face before we even learn to stand
But we get back up, shake off all the dust and take it step by stepI can fill the whole floor to the ceiling
With all the dead wrong choices I've made
And even though we try to learn from each others mistakesWe'll do it again
(Doing it again)
We'll do it again, my friend
(Doing it again)
We'll do it again and again
Till we eventually we change the way it's always beenIt's a big bad dream following your heart
Sometimes the one you needs the one that tears you apart
So you say goodbye, kiss her one more time
And cry the whole way homeI can fill up the driest river
With all the tears falling off of my face
And even though we try to learn from each others mistakesWe'll do it again
(Doing it again)
We'll do it again, my friend
(Doing it again)
We'll do it again and again
Till we eventually we change the way it's always been
(Doing it again)
We'll do it again and again
Till we eventually we change the way it's always beenJust running 'round in circles
Tripping over every hurdle
We're just trying to do the best that we canIt's a big bad life all that we can do is try to make it right
Tomorrow something new
So if a big rain cloud follows you around don't let it get you downWe'll do it again
(Doing it again)
We'll do it again my friends
(Doing it again)
We'll do it again and again
Till we eventually we change the way it's always beenOh, we'll do it again
(Doing it again)
We'll do it again my friends
(Doing it again)
We'll do it again and again
Till we eventually we change the way it's always been
(Doing it again)
We do it again and again

Till we eventually can change the way it's always been
