Karmacoda

I will pull you alive, I will make you thrive
To quicken your breath, (be)fore you realize
This life's about pain, everything's the same
We're taking it back, here're the keys again Though there's something's I would change
With all our lives so rearranged
And though it's tears until the end
I swear I know we'll come again Life is insane though we can't refrain
Grabbed hold of a tail that we'll never tame
I know that I know that we're all afraid
Just talk to the fear cause it's tailor made Though there's something's I won't change
With all our lives so rearranged
And though it's tears until the end
I swear I know you'll come again I need you now, I need to now
I want you around Well there's nothing I would change
With all our lives so rearranged
And though it's tears until the end
I swear I know we'll come again
