Dancers to a Discordant System

Meshuggah

Listen to the hidden tune

The essence of lies in notes defined

As we dance to the dissonant sway

The choreography refinedWill, subdued and shackled

Reason washed aside

Pledging our love to the chains

Our ignorance ever amplifiedBlooded hands lead the waltz

We're trapped in the out of tune swirl

Still we set the show on continue mode

And dance to a discordant systemWe accept the nails we're fed

Lies sharpened to bleed us silent

Muted from the pains

Defiance employed in vainAny attempts to leave the dance

Invisibly suppressed

Questions unasked, we learn the steps

Eyes shut like all the restUnsuspecting, willing, blind, controllable herd

Pawns in a covert game conducted by hands we trust

Dominated, compliant and deceptible

Confident that we matter, we don't see that we're but dustCommitted to a lie we cannot see

Cannot know nor comprehend

We're all asinine drones

Kept in the dark, kept in lineConfined, bereft of reason

Withering in toxicity

The deadly fumes of deceit

And we all reek of complicityHumbled, brought to our knees

By the weight of our own guilt

Our nascent ways, the catalyst

To injustice and inhumanityWe dance to appease

Compete in stupidityObscured faces file our points

Numbers fed to the machine

Still we stand in line for the next show

The human spine liquefied

What are we but stupefied

Dancers to a discordant systemWe believe, so we're misled

We assume, so we're played

We confide, so we're deceived

We trust, so we're betrayedWe believe, so we're misled

We assume, so we're played

We confide, so we're deceived

We trust, so we're betrayed
