

Five Seasons

Hayden

When the roof drips its eyes
I won't take it as a sign
That I may run into you
And we'll be just fine
When the sun shines down on everyone
You won't appear like you were never gone
I'll never mistake all the leaves on the field for a change in the way that you feel
When snow hits the ground
I won't wander the house
Thinking maybe you're cold and would want me around
When the sun shines down on everyone
You won't appear like you were never gone
You won't appear like you were never gone
You won't appear like you were never gone
You're the one who said stop dreaming
