

Patience

Eastern Conference Champions

 Been good, been bad, got worse, got better.

 I feel I know myself when i'm looking in the mirror.

 Been hurt, been loved - I'm scarred, not bitter.

 I am an angel with the knowledge of a sinner.

 But what do I do, and how should I be?

 When I look at myself, I can only see me....

 I need a little patience...

 Been hard, been soft, been both, been neither

 Above it all, I am only a survivor.

 Been down,been low, got up, got higher -

 We are only human, all just liars...

 So I wait for the day when I open my eyes

 And I look to myself, but it's no big surprise

 I need a little patience...

 Well i'm sitting here and sinking and i'm on the '8th floor

 And i'm thinking do I jump or should I stay around for more?

 I watch my friends get bigger and get better and get richer

 But i'm not bitter

 Time is ticking ticking ticking ticking on with a vengeance

 I want it all

 I want it all

 I need a little patience....

 Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlrics.com/>