

I've Pursued Nothing

The Tossers

Well, it's three o'clock at the end of the day
Well, it's three o'clock at the end of the day
Well, it's three o'clock in the morning gray
Well, I'm alone and I'm very, very worried Well, all the bottles of wine have ravaged my mind
All the bottles of wine have ravaged my mind
Yeah, all the bottles of wine have ravaged my mind
Well, another day's gone by, I'm worried And the night, and the night, it is bitter and short
For I know that a new day is coming
Another day, another day, all alone and blue
Well oh, but for you, I've pursued nothing Well, I dropped out of school to dwell on a dream
And now all the guilt is engulfing me Well, I can't concentrate, I'm failing Oh, where can she be?
Well, I'm alone and I'm very, very worried And the night, and the night and it is bitter and short
For I know that a new day is coming
Another day, another day, all alone and blue
Well oh, but for you, I've pursued nothing Well, I know that I've always felt this way
God, I know that it's always been this way
Since I was young, I've always felt this way
Well, do I fuck myself for the consistency? And the night, and the night and it is bitter and short
For I know that a new day is coming
Another day, another day, all alone and blue
Well oh, but for you, I've pursued nothing
But for you, I've pursued nothing
But for you, I've pursued nothing Well God, I know that I have stumbled
And I know I've not been sharp
And when I'm leaving this world behind
I won't bring another soul here to fall flat on their face
Or leave this world unkind And the night, and the night and it is bitter and short
For I know that a new day is coming
Another day, another day, all alone and blue
Well oh, but for you, I've pursued nothing
But for you, I've pursued nothing
But for you, I've pursued nothing
