

Dive Right In (10 Year Version)

Story of the Year

So here i go
I'll dive right in
Break through the waves
Straight to the ocean floor And although my hands are shaking
I lie perfectly still
'Cause I'm determined to let myself sink down And I know I'm buried too far down
To feel the warmth from the sun again I could wave my arms and swim away
But never reach the shore
But for now I will lay face first in the sand
With the wreckage from ships that lost their way And I know I'm buried too far down
To feel the warmth from the sun again And I know I'm buried too far down
To feel the warmth from the sun again And although my hands are shaking
I lie perfectly still
'Cause I'm determined to let myself sink down And I know I'm buried too far down
To feel the warmth from the sun again
