Hey You There

Stacy Barthe

When you get the courage to be honest to yourself
You can stop lying to everyone else, yeah
Don't you ever get tired of pretending, tired
Ran so man miles that your legs gave outYou gotta ask yourself, what are you running from Look yourself in the mirror and say
Say hey you there, is it me you're looking for?
Say hey you there, you there, you there, is it me you're looking forHave you ever had a burden so heavy on your chest
And while your dying inside you smile for everybody else
Don't you ever get tired of being uninspired
When you put so much out and nothing in returnYou gotta ask yourself, what are you running from Face yourself in the mirror and say
Say hey you there, is it me you're looking for?
Say hey you there, you there, you there, is it me you're looking for?Have been searching, searching for some time now
I've been searching, searching for some time now
And I look myself in the eyes for the first time and I like what I seeHey you there, is it me you're looking for?
Say hey you there, you there, you there, is it me you're looking for?

Songwriters
BARTHE, STACY / HO, JAMES RYAN WUIHUN / TUCKER, RONNIE / ABRAHAMS, SHANE / BLACKMON, EDWARDPublished by Lyrics Â© Universal Music Publishing Group

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/