

California Day

New Riders Of The Purple Sage

Torbert
California dream winding through the ocean shore
I walked a country mile along your rocky coast
On the sandy shores I ran until I could not run no more
Left it far behind in dreams of death
Something's calling me, oh honey, to the mystic sea
Something's calling me, oh honey, to your eyes I see
California day
I know that I can make it all the way
Just my love is where I'm going to
Something's calling me, oh honey, to the mystic sea, something, something
Something's calling me, oh, unto your eyes I see
California day
I know that I can make it all the way
Just my love is where I'm going to
