

The Leaving Song

Stephen Speaks

Walked away, heard them say
"Poison hearts will never change", walk away again
Turned away in disgrace, felt the chill upon my face
Cooling from within
Hard to notice gleaming from the sky
When you're staring at the cracks
Hard to notice what is passing by with eyes lowered
You walked away, heard them say
"Poison hearts will never change", walk away again
All the cracks, they lead right to me
And all the cracks will crawl right through me
All the cracks, they lead right to me
And all the cracks will crawl right through me
And I fell apart
As I walked away, heard them say
Poison hearts will never change, walk away again
Turned away in disgrace, felt the chill upon my face
Cooling from within
