The Words That We Have Chosen

Inhale Exhale

A world awaits you when all you have to do is think
And theres no actions
In everyone you see an emptiness
They cant be all right for you and meYou think you have it all
We live such spoiled lives, untouched and unharmedWe will own up to the words that we have chosen
And swear by mistakes we cant affordWere running out of options
Theres trouble when youre lonely
And its always a choice to make
Is it right what you want?I cant take the time to wish you luck
We live such spoiled lives, untouched and unharmedWe will own up to the words that we have chosen
And swear by mistakes we cant afford
We will own up to the words that we have chosen
And swear by mistakes we cant affordIts so far away from where you want to be
And theres no way to make it go any fasterWait for your heart to sink
And thank God for what you haveWe will own up to the words that we have chosen
And swear by mistakes we cant afford
We will own up to the words that we have chosen
And swear by mistakes we cant afford
