Too Many Nights Late

Meja

I woke up this morning with a feeling of just feeling so fine Could it be Mr Amour calling? You're too many nights But I don't appreciate too many nights late I wanna be the one and only to the garden of Eden the only one who makes you come where we belong But I don't appreciate You're too many nights too many nights late Don't put me on standby suffocating happiness Sentimental loneliness sets me on standby I shouldn't be a part of this I shouldn't be a part of this What's the big deal of living lonely Help me find the meaning of this Better find an explanation But I don't appreciate too many nights late You're too many nights Do I hear a key in my door Do I hear you say you're sorry? But I don't appreciate Do I sense the feeling of you You're too many nights too many nights late So don't put me on standby Sentimental loneliness suffocating happiness sets me on standby I shouldn't be a part of this I shouldn't be a part of this feeling of just feeling so fine I woke up this morning with a I don't need an explanation But I don't appreciate You're too many nights late too many nights late But I guess it's OK even though you're too many nights It's OK too many nights late you're too many nights too many nights late
