

One Belief

All That Remains

Can not a man of modern day
Find truth in what he's learned
Of all the seventh day's a waste
A fool for all the lies I've prayed
Yet I'm strong, I'll place no blame
Although misled I've found the truth
This one belief, strength for this mortal dance
This one truth, I feel I'll be set free
This one faith, I know I'll not falter
This one belief, I know I'll be redeemed
The night once called to me
An eloquent caress she offered
But I'll not make my bed with whores
And in the place she left a harder
Yet much truer thing
And now by this I gauge the world
Strength for this mortal dance
I feel I'll be set free
I know I'll not falter
I know I'll be redeemed
