Brighter Than the Sun

ABC

I'm amazed and a little fazed by what passes the whit these days
I'm not crazy about the trash they braze or the flags they wave these days
I'm amazed and a little fazed by the drugs they crave these days
That's just the way it plays
It's a masquerade these daysI'm a man out of time
Till the stars re-align
With tastes so refine I don't know which way we're heading
I'm a man out of time
With a mountain to climb
Just looking for a sign do you know which way we goI ask the boy that i once was, bout the man that i've become
Bout the days and days and days gone by, and the nights still yet to come
That boy would turn to me and say your, not the only one
When all said and done are futures looking brighter than the sun
I'm amazed and a little fazed by the way love stays today
By the facts that they portray and a lovers gazed today
I'm amazed and a little fazed by the things you say to me
Bout the faith you place in me, and all that we can truly beI'm a man out of time
Till the stars re-align
With tastes so refine I don't know which way we're heading
I'm a man out of time
Trapped in re-wind
Just looking for a sign do you know which way to goI ask the boy that i once was, bout the man that i've become
Bout the days and days and days gone by, and the nights still yet to come
That boy would turn to me and say your not the only one
When all said and done are futures looking brighter than the sun[Instrumental]
I ask the boy that i once was, bout the man that i've become
Bout the days and days and days gone by, and the nights still yet to come
That boy would turn to me and say your not the only one
When all said and done are futures looking brighter than the sunWhen all said and done are futures looking brighter than the sunAre futures looking brighter than the sunWhen all said and done are futures looking brighter than the sun
