

Kiss You Slow

Andy Grammer

I know you didn't think that loving me meant so much time alone
Dinner for one on the couch, another movie on your own
You know that I'm never gonna be a nine to five, that was never me
I was born with a compass in my hand and a restless soul But when it hurts, when you can't take it
And when the rubber band feels like it's breaking Hear the kick drum, that's my heart right there
Let the melody run its fingers through your hair
And my piano will kiss you slow tonight
And my vocals tickle your ear
And you almost can feel me here
And my piano will kiss you slow tonight As far as ladies go, baby you should know you're so patient
You're a thick skin, definition of low maintenance
But it's enough, time goes by
You can help but dim your light
An empty house can make a cold heart feel so naked But when it hurts, when you can't take it
And when the rubber band feels like it's breaking You hear the kick drum, that's my heart right there
Let the melody run its fingers through your hair
And my piano will kiss you slow tonight
And my vocals tickle your ear
And you almost can feel me here
And my piano will kiss you slow tonight Yeah, oh, let me be your
Be your second home for a while
Home, all you've ever known
So baby listen close for me inside And hear the kick drum, that's my heart right there
Let the melody run its fingers through your hair
When my piano will kiss you slow And hear the kick drum, that's my heart right there
Let the melody run its fingers through your hair
And my piano will kiss you slow tonight
And my vocals tickle your ear
And you almost can feel me here
And my piano will kiss you slow tonight
Will kiss you slow tonight
Will kiss you slow tonight
Will kiss you slow tonight
