Running in the Rain

Holy Shit

She cuts herself to forget him
And every time her wounds get deeper
Tonights the night she's gonna shed her skin
Cause she's thinkin that he doesn't need her
She's wishin all this would end
And she's gonna try to take her own life again
Wait, I know your hearts been shattered
But there's someone worth the wait
There's so much more that matters
And I know you will be alright, just try to love the little things in life
Like running in the rain
He drinks alone to forget her
And every time the room starts spinning
He starts to thinkin 'bout where they were
When she told him that she doesn't need him
He's wishin all this would end
And he's gonna try to take his own life again

Wait, I know your hearts been shattered
But there's someone worth the wait
There's so much more that matters
And I know you will be alright, just try
to love the little things in life
Like running in the rain
She's wishin all this would end
And he's gonna try to take his own life again
Wait, I know your hearts been shattered
But there's someone worth the wait
There's so much more that matters
And I know you will be alright, just try
to love the little things in life
Like running in the rain
Running in the rain
But I know you will be alright, just try
to love the little things in life
Like running in the rain

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/