

The Sparrows and the Nightingales

Mark 'Oh

How long have you been free
In this world of hate and greed?
Is it black? Or is it white?
Let's find another compromise
And our future's standing still
We're dancing in the spotlight
Where is the leader who leads me?
I'm still waiting
Leaving home and God is on your side
Dividing sparrows from the nightingales
Watching all the time
Dividing water from the burning fire inside
And god is on your side
Dividing cruelty from tenderness
Watching all the time
Dividing fiction from reality
Move in circles walk on lines
No human being in sight
Calm the winds
And calm the seas
Lets try another kind of peace
Who fights this Holy civil war?
A million men in uniform
Wo ist der fÃ¼hrer der mich fÃ¼hrt?
Ich warte immer noch
And God is on your side
Dividing presence from the history
Watching all the time
Dividing deaf men from the listening ones
Leave a light on in the night for me
That, I can find you
Remember when we both where young
And reckless and so curious
Now you're hiding from your child
A new day's dawning
Remember that you felt alive
Sometimes
And God is on your side
Dividing soldiers from the fisherman
Watching all the time
Dividing warships from the ferryboats
