Save It

The Planet Smashers

How can I feel the way I do Each time I get this close to you
The part of me that won't let go making me keep my self control Save it for the right time when we'll start again tomorrow's just around the bend softly crawl into my shell and wait it out till everything is well What makes me act the way I do the earth the stars the sky the moons, Life memories silver and goal, what makes good times so hard to hold Save it for the right time when we'll start again there's no reason to pretend wandering around the world trying to find myself you can never walk away from where you are But right here at home, next to you so all alone,
Is no know one that you've ever known Silently, sorry
Why save it for the right time when that's just pretend we can't never have this day again Love is waiting on the shelf while I'm too scared to be a friend wandering around the world trying to find myself I turn around one day and there you are...
Don't save it cause the right time is the one we're in so no more waiting to begin open my heart going to let it sing each grain of sand is everything the truth is never quite so far we can never walk away from where we are...
