

So Typical My Heart

Most Precious Blood

so typical my heart
and here i am again in envy of your will to leave me behind we watched the city fall - it couldn't save our love the death of my trust, eclipsed by tragedy no need to cut me open, i died of a broken heart, ashen grey and cold,
my mirror turned to stone as your footsteps fade - await the final wave, too caught up in my game i watched you walk away tragedy won't distract your heart

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>