

The Great Event

Leonard Cohen

Its going to happen very soon
The great event, which will end the horror
Which will end the sorrow
Next Tuesday when the sun goes down I will play the Moonlight Sonata backwards
This will reverse the effects of the worlds mad plunge
Into suffering, for the last 200 million years
What a lovely night that would be What a sigh of relief, as the senile robins
Become bright red again, and the retired nightingales
Pick up their dusty tails, and assert the Majesty of Creation

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>